Photography competition attracts outstanding entries

01/07/08

A photography competition, organised by Lee Evans Partnership as part of RIBA South East Region Canterbury Branch's Architecture08 events, attracted over 200 entries.

The theme was 'Art in Architecture' and the overall standard was superb. Competition judge, professional architectural photographer, Robert Greshoff, praised the technical quality, composition and breadth of subject matter demonstrated. When selecting the winning entries he said 'I was looking for images which demonstrated the ability of the photographer to absorb and then present their subject through their own consciousness, within an aesthetic framework.'

All the entries were exhibited at a well attended exhibition held from 16 June – 21 June inclusive at the historic Eastbridge Hospital in Canterbury .

(First Prize: James Galpin Second Prize: David Silk Third Prize: Lorna Summers Highly Commended: Steve Skinner, Nigel Lee Evans, George Esdaile).
