Partner, Matt Hayes, appointed as CABE Enabler 24/02/09

Partner, Matt Hayes has just been appointed as a member of the CABE Enabling Panel, following an open and competitive process against a strong and eminent field of other applicants.

His role as a CABE specialist enabler will be to offer expert advice and support to organisations involved in projects for buildings and spaces across a variety of sectors including education, health and residential housing. Part of his role will also involve helping organisations build up their own skills in assessing design quality.

Matt says: 'I have always had a great respect for CABE's work and their drive to inspire people to demand more from buildings and spaces and am delighted to have been appointed to the CABE Enabling Panel. It is a challenging role but offers a great opportunity, working with other industry practitioners, to offer hands on advice to clients on how to get better value through better design.'

The CABE Enabling Panel consists of over a hundred professionals, including architects, urban designers, planners, masterplanners, landscape architects, project managers, engineers, property and quantity surveyors, as well as people working as clients for capital projects.
