The Best of British School Awards 2011, now in their fourth year, identify and reward excellence in the UK school design and construction sector. The Awards were held in London in the celebrated Blue Fin Building, home to media giant IPC on Wednesday, 22 June.

Lee Evans Partnership was short listed in The Excellence in Design for Teaching & Learning: Refurbishment (Large Scale) category for their project The Community College Whitstable but missed out on the award which went to Walthamstow School for Girls, designed by Architecture plb.

Ty Goddard, Director, BCSE said, 'These important awards are about celebrating the achievement of those who create world class teaching and learning environments. They are a chance for us to celebrate the pride we have in our schools and those who teach and learn in them.'
