Lee Evans Partnership wins strategic master planning project at Fulston Manor School 24.06.11

Lee Evans Partnership has been selected at competitive interview to undertake a strategic master planning study of the campus at Fulston Manor School, Sittingbourne, following the cancellation of the school's BSF (Building Schools for the Future) programme.

Fulston Manor is one of the first new Outstanding Academies in the country, with academic results consistently above those for other comparable schools as well as a range of sporting and cultural achievements that encompass activities from local to international dimensions.
